The summer competition season is in full swing. Use this month's tips to ensure your horse and equipment are working to take you to the pay window!

Vet Bag: Does your horse drink enough water away from home?

One of the major reasons competitive horses get sick or don't perform well when away from home is dehydration. If a horse doesn't drink enough water, he can't digest his food properly or perform to the best of his abilities.

Some horses get dehydrated because they don't like the taste of water they're not used to. If your horse is a finicky drinker, you can disguise the taste of unfamiliar water by adding a little flavored drink mix. Start doing this at home several days before you leave to get your horse accustomed to the taste of the drink mix.

Your horse drinks eight gallons of water a day. A bucket like this holds five gallons.

THIS MONTH'S TIPS:

It's Competition Season!

At the show, make sure your horse always has access to a bucket or two of fresh water. Keep the water clean of hay, feed and debris. Remember: A horse drinks at least eight gallons of water a day, more if the weather is hot or if he's working hard.
